Monthly Teen DIY Program at the Westside Community Center

New Braunfels, TX - The New Braunfels Public Library will begin offering a free, monthly DIY program for teens at the Westside Community Center, beginning Wednesday, April 1st at 5:00 p.m.

This program will allow teens to develop skills in a variety of areas - from high-tech projects, to sewing, crafting and creating 'zines.' Over time, the program will allow teens to meet a variety of local experts and showcase the library's excellent Makerspace at the center.

"The library hopes that with this DIY program we can appeal to the creative interests in our teen community, and give teens a chance to develop skills in technical and creative pursuits they might not have had an opportunity to experiment with before," said Youth Services Librarian Ariel Cummins. "We hope to incorporate the spirit of the Maker movement and empower teens to explore the intersections of art and technology."

DIY@Your Library for Teens will take place on the first Wednesday of every month, and registration is limited to 15 participants for each program. The Westside Community Center is located at 2932 S. IH-35. To register for this event, visit www.nbtexas.org/libraryevents or call 830-221-4300.
