City Seeks Flood Damage Reports from Businesses

New Braunfels, Texas — The City of New Braunfels is asking businesses inside the city limits of New Braunfels to contact them with both property damage estimates and economic impact estimates sustained as a result of the flood event of October 30th. (Individuals can still report residential damage, if they have not already done so.)

“We do not need exact amounts at this time, but encourage all business owners to provide us with their estimates,” said Emergency Management Coordinator Steve Harris. “These figures can be adjusted, but we need to gather the damage estimates quickly so the State Disaster Assessment Team can visit the businesses that were impacted on November 10th or 11th. This is part of a state-wide initiative.”

To report losses, businesses should email Harris at sharris@nbtexas.org this week. For more information, contact him at 830-221-4270.
