Human Skeletal Remains Discovered

New Braunfels, Texas — On Jan. 29th, 2019, at approximately 3:45pm, utility crews working in the area of FM 1044 and Green Valley Road discovered an item that appeared to be human skeletal remains. Those crews immediately called the New Braunfels Police Department.

Initial forensic analysis indicates that the skeletal remains that were discovered are that of an adult human. Any additional details about the age, gender, condition, or manner of death of the remains that were found are part of the ongoing investigation which will require further forensic analysis.

On today's date (01-30-19), residents in the area will see a continued police presence as the search for additional remains continues. Traffic on Green Valley Road between FM 1044 and Ron Road will be closed for the majority of the day today. All traffic will be diverted down Ron Road to Morningside Drive. Please find an alternate route if you normally travel on Green Valley Road.

###

EDITORS: A media staging area for trucks and camera crews has been established at the corner of FM 1044 and Green Valley Road. Two media briefings will be held today to give updates. Those media briefings will be held at NBPD Headquarters at 1488 S. Seguin Ave. The first will occur at approximately 10:30am and the second will occur at approximately 4pm.

Please note: At this time, the New Braunfels Police Department will not be releasing any additional information beyond the scope of the information provided in the above release. The media briefings are simply a chance for reporters to get tape and sound from NBPD officials.
