New Braunfels Public Library to Hold Junior FIRST LEGO League Informational Session

New Braunfels, TX - On Thursday, December 11th at 7 p.m., the New Braunfels Public Library will hold a Junior FIRST[®] LEGO[®] League Informational Session.

Junior FIRST[®] LEGO[®] League, or Jr. FLL[®], is a fun, educational and challenging program for kids ages 6-9. Teams complete a LEGO[®] building challenge and a research project, with the opportunity to present their work at the Alamo FIRST[®] Regional Championships in San Antonio on March 14th, 2015.

Each team will consist of two to six members, two adult coaches, and requires an assortment of LEGO[®] bricks. This program is well-suited to after-school groups, homeschool groups, scout troops, 4-H clubs, or simply a group of friends. The library will provide information on how to form a team, training guidance for coaches, and starter kits for check-out. These LEGO[®] kits will include the basic mechanical components needed for the building challenge. Adults and children interested in learning more about Jr. FLL[®] are encouraged to attend this program.
