Library to Hold Novel Writing Program

New Braunfels, TX - The New Braunfels Public Library is hosting a special event for all writers: "I Wrote a Novel – Now What?" On Sunday, January 4th, from 2:00 – 4:00 p.m. in the library's meeting room, writers of all ages are welcome to attend this program and learn more about editing and publishing a manuscript.

Special guests include local authors Joe McKinney, Lori Michelle, Max Booth III, and Karen Kinna, as well as graphic designer Robin Hinnen. Guest presentations will be followed by a question and answer session. Books will be available for purchase and refreshments will be served.

"Anyone interested in writing fiction, or who has completed a manuscript and wants to learn more about publishing, should make plans to attend this unique program for aspiring writers," said library director Gretchen Pruett.

This program is free and open to the public. Attendees may register in advance online at www.nbtexas.org/libraryevents or call Megan Clark for more information at 830-221-4300.
