New Community Recreation Center In Design

New Braunfels, TX – Design is in progress for the new Community Recreation Center, which was approved by voters in Proposition 3 of the New Braunfels 2013 Bond Program. This project will construct a new facility, in the former Landa Plaza location on Landa Street, which will include:

- Two pools – one for competition and one for leisure, that will include play features and swim lanes
- Two full gymnasiums
- A cardio and weight room
- Locker rooms
- Birthday party rooms
- Multipurpose rooms – for meetings/classes/rentals, etc.
- Childcare room (for those using the center)
- An elevated track
- A group exercise room
- Administrative areas

Currently Brinkley Sargent Architects and their design team are working on the design development documents, which includes working with the City, the construction manager and appropriate user groups to determine all of the details required to plan the recreation center.

The project is being managed by the City of New Braunfels Capital Programs division and, based on current projections, could open in 2018. However, many factors could contribute to a change in the proposed schedule, which will be further refined as the design process is completed.

“We are utilizing the Construction Manager at Risk delivery method, which is a very collaborative process between the design team, construction manager (Byrne Construction Services) and the City. The Recreation Center is a significant project for the City, so we are very pleased to have this team working on it,” said City of New Braunfels Capital Programs Project Manager Jennifer Cain.
