City Receives Award of Merit from Texas Historical Commission

New Braunfels – The City of New Braunfels Parks and Recreation Department was awarded the Texas Historical Commission’s Award of Merit in Archeology for the excellent quality of educational signage placed within the Landa Park Golf Course during the course renovation in 2014. The award was received during the Texas Historical Commission’s Archeology Committee’s quarterly meeting in Austin, Texas on Thursday, July 21, 2016.

The Award of Merit in Archeology recognizes the efforts and/or contributions of an individual or organization involved in preserving Texas’ cultural and historical resources.

“We are honored to be recognized by the Texas Historical Commission for the collaborative efforts of our staff and the project design team, Terra Design Group,” said Stacey Dicke, Director of Parks and Recreation.

The Texas Historical Commission is the state agency for historic preservation and their mission is to protect and preserve the state’s historic and prehistoric resources for the use, education, enjoyment, and economic benefit of present and future generations.
