New Braunfels, Texas — The City of New Braunfels has announced that Mr. Bryan Woods has been selected as an Assistant City Manager. Mr. Woods assumed his duties in this capacity on June 29, 2017.

Woods was born in Baytown, Texas and has lived and worked in the Texas Hill Country for more than a decade. He received a Bachelor of Science degree, with Highest Honors in Construction Engineering Technology, from the University of Southern Mississippi and is currently completing a Master of Public Affairs degree through the University of Missouri's Truman School of Public Affairs.

“Bryan joined the City of New Braunfels in 2014 as the Capital Programs Manager where he has very successfully overseen the design, right of way acquisition and construction for all of our capital improvement projects,” said City Manager, Robert Camareno. “We look forward to the application of his proven leadership skills in his new position.”

Immediately prior to joining the City, Mr. Woods worked at Coyle-SDA, Inc. - a consulting, engineering and surveying firm - where he served as Vice President and Texas Office Director.

In his new role as Assistant City Manager, Mr. Woods will oversee the Airport, City Secretary's Office, Capital Programs Management, Planning and Community Development, and Public Works/Engineering.
