Learn More about Fraud at Library's 'Outsmart the Scammers' Program

New Braunfels, TX — The New Braunfels Public Library is offering a financial literacy program to help adults learn more about how to protect themselves from fraud.

The program, "Outsmart the Scammers," will be held on Monday, May 13th, at 4:00 p.m. in the library's meeting room.

"We live in an age of infinite technology and virtual environments; this makes it is difficult at times to sort out the legitimate from the fraudulent," said Adult Services Librarian Jodi Brown. "Edward Jones representative Rachel Ackerson will provide tips and advice to help protect yourself from fraud."

This program is free and open to the public.
